

From: BUSCAGLIA@HOOVER.STANFORD.EDU
SUBJECT: LALEA 98 ANNUAL MEETING

Dear Colleague:

You are cordially invited to our next Latin American Law and Economics Association (LALEA) Congress that will be held in Quito, ECUADOR on JUNE 15-17 1998.

The Latin American Law and Economics Association (LALEA) was established in Mexico in 1992. The Association gathers well known international scholars, top government officials, and private sector leaders. LALEA's main purposes are:

(i) the promotion of research related to the economic analysis of legal frameworks in developing countries;

and

(ii) the application of law and economics of development to public policy-making in Latin America.

Its network of national law and economics associations have been active in sponsoring congresses and publications within the aforementioned field. The latest three LALEA Annual Meetings have been held in Mexico (ITAM), Argentina (Universidad de Buenos Aires and Univ. of Belgrano), and in Venezuela (Univ. Central de Venezuela).

You are welcome to send papers for the panels below

PANELS cover the following areas:

(i) law and economics of torts in developing countries

(ii) law and economics of contractual arrangements in developing countries

(iii) economic analysis of administrative law

(iv) economic analysis of constitutional law in developing countries

(v) economic analysis of the judiciary and alternative dispute resolutions in developing countries

(vi) economic analysis of corruption

(vii) frontiers of law and economics

(viii) law and economics of competition policies in developing countries

(ix) philosophical topics in law and economics

(x) law and economics of environmental resources

LALEA is not covering any travel-related expenses. For local hotel reservations and flight arrival information please contact our local office in Quito. Their e-mail is:

cld@cld.org.ec

PAPERS SHOULD BE E-MAILED TO:

Buscaglia@hoover.stanford.edu

and to

Roemer_Andres@bah.com

OR MAILED to:

Prof. Ed Buscaglia
Stanford University
Stanford, CA 94305
USA

Sincerely,

Ed Buscaglia
Vice President